Merry-Go-Round Swing To Be At "April Showers"

ANDALUSIA, Apr. 28—There is great news for children in the announcement by Mrs. E. Paul Patton, chairman of Pen Ryn School "April Showers of Fun" that a merry-go-round swing has been donated for the evening.

This is made possible through generosity of Elmer B. Vansant, Cornwells Heights. It was designed and assembled by Mr. Vansant, and is geared to move at five miles per hour. Decorated in the Pen Ryn colors, it will seat six children up to the age of eight years. The seats of the swing were designed and made by Arthur Freas, Andalusia, and Harold Dettmer, Cornwells Heights, made the paint job possible. Roland Tooke, member of Pen Ryn P. T. A. designed and painted the horses' heads.

The dinner-dance and country fair is to be held Friday evening in King hall.

J. Leslie Kilcoyne, Esq., and Mrs.
Kilcoyne, of Edgely, have donated a Pen Ryn flag, which with Old Glory will grace the sides of the stage that evening.

Mrs. Harry Oliver, chairman of St. Agnes Guild, has secured the recipe for creamed oysters which the Philadelphia City Troop is famed for serving at its dinners.
This is to be added to the menu of baked ham, apple sauce, asparagus, peas, lima beans, mashed potatoes, gelatine with whipped cream, coffee and milk.

The dining room doors open at five o'clock and close at 8:30. The guild is preparing 1,000 dinners.
Tickets may be purchased on ar-

IMPROVEMENT IS SEEN

Tomorrow and Friday are the days set for the selection by ward captains of the "street of the ward" in each local district, in connection with the "Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up Campaign."

"The streets will be judged for best appearance and also for improvement during the drive," commented one of the officials today.

The choice of the "street of the ward" will be presented in writing by each ward captain to Mrs. William Harding, general chairman of the campaign.

Following that a committee to be named by the Bristol Chamber of Commerce will select from the six streets listed the "best street" of the borough, these to be judged also for appearance and improvement.

killed when struck by an automoon Thursday. The service will be held at the Morden funeral chapel,

GLEE CLUB AND CHOIR TO PRESENT CONCERT

The Bristol high school choir of 65 voices will be heard Saturday evening when the Male Glee Club of Bristol presents its first concert effort in Bristol high school auditorium.

Climaxing the evening's singing, the choir will join with the glee club in massed choral effect. The group of at least ninety voices will render Christiansen's "Beautiful Saviour," De Koven's "Recessional" and Rubinstein's "Voice of Freedom."

The school choir has been growing during its ten years of organization and has become well known in Bristol. It presents each year programs at Christmas and Easter, as well as a larger program each spring. It also is heard in local church services, exchange assembly programs, and some years in shows and operettas.

Charles Quigley has been the director of this organization since its beginning, except for the few war years, and will be directing this program of choral music on Saturday.

The present choir is made up of about equal representatives from each of the high school classes, and is one of the largest in the history of the school. The choir is accompanied by a senior, Rita Clotti, and a junior, Berenice Britton. Miss Britton is also the regular accompanist of the Male Glee Club.

It is hoped that more money will be added to the music clubs' fund
for band uniforms on Saturday, when 60% of the proceeds of the initial concert of the newly-formed Male Glee Club will be turned over to the school musicians.

Musical Extravaganza of 5th Ward Sporting Club To Be Gala Affair

TWO PRESENTATIONS

When the Fifth Ward Sporting Club presents its second annual musical extravaganza at the Grand Theatre this evening, another important page will be added to the history of the organization—an organization which in the past two years has risen from obscurity to a place of prominence in the athletic and social circles of Bristol.

Five big acts will precede the minstrel show to be staged this evening and tomorrow evening.

Ten years ago a group of 13 young boys in the fifth ward decided to form an athletic club. They were inexperienced, but full of hopes and dreams. They were pensiless, but had the will and determination to succeed. In a short time they had softball and basketball teams in the Bristol leagues.

Then came Pearl Harbor. All 13 members answered the call. They served Uncle Sam in battle fields all over the world. Twelve came home, one made the supreme sacrifice.

Immediately after the war the club was reorganized by the remaining 12 members. Now they had a greater determination with newer hopes and brighter dreams. They wanted an organization to take the youth off the street corners and put them in an environment which would offer the opportunity to become good, respectable citizens.

For they learned at two Jima and Anzio what good citizenship and patriotism stood for.

In one year, the organization increased from 12 to 110 members.
Last year the members presented their first musical extravaganza and with the proceeds purchased a lot —the site of their future club house. "Some of our plans have come true, but only because of the co-operation of the people of Bristol," a member states. "Their generosity and good will can not be measured in dollars and cents, but some day may be expressed in the character and personality of the citizens of our town."

The proceeds from tonight's musical will go to the building fund of the Fifth Ward Sporting Club.

It is hoped that more money will
be added to the music clubs' fund
for band uniforms on Saturday,
when 60% of the proceeds of the initial concert of the newly-formed Male Glee Club will be turned over

Stassen Coasts to First Victory in East

Philadelphia—Harold E. Stassen coasted to his first victory in the East today in Pennsylvania's Republican write-in presidential primaries, fighting off a surge of votes for Governor Thomas E. Dewey from upstate and rural counties.

The former Minnesota governor, by virtue of heaping pluralities achieved in the huge metropolitan areas of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, appeared to have an insurmountable lead with more than 6000 of the State's 6262 precincts reported.

The returns showed: Stassen, 65,273; Dewey, 59,515.

Although Dewey closed a gap which had Stassen leading two to one at one stage, late returns from outlying districts strengthened Dewey's position.

Incomplete returns from most of the precincts gave Sen. Edward Martin 37,199 votes.

Waging a nip and tuck battle for write in votes for the fourth spot were Sen. Robert A. Taft and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, although their tallies were too far behind the leaders to figure prominently.

MacArthur had 12,994 and Taft 12,275. General Eisenhower received 3552 ballots.

HER LIFE BEGINS AT 40

A woman over 40 needs a job, in the opinion of a panel of experts who discussed the question recently over the radio. One speaker went so far as to say that careers for older women are a "moral must."

A psychologist on the panel said that if this advice were generally taken, most manufacturers of sleeping pills and potions would go out of business. Older persons, he added, have important gifts to make to society, to repay what society has given them.

The panel didn't go into the question of whether society would be willing to use these important gifts if they were offered. Deciding to take a job is easier than finding one.

One drawback with the suggestion for women over 40, as the panel recognized, is that many of them are not prepared for posts in the outside world. Their lives may be empty, whether they are unmarried or their children are leaving the nest, but they feel too much apathy to strike out in a new direction.

The sense of doing something useful is one of the most important ingredients in personal happiness, and the lack of such a feeling makes for discontent and loss of self-confidence. It is evident that woman suffrage hasn't solved all woman's problems. Voting is not a career.

IS THIS FREEDOM?

Individual tempos vary, but the average person can read this editorial—aloud—in one minute.
A typical convention nominating speech limited to 30 minutes, is therefore 30 times as long as this editorial.

Yet there is rarely anything said in such tympanic tone-poems that could not be said in fewer words than this short editorial contains.

Now the Republicans have decided to demand the supreme sacrifice of their speakers. Those who rise to make nominations must limit their remarks to 15 minutes each. This should cut the number of "the man who" references and lead to identification of the man the people are panning for in only about 3,000 words.

Speakers thus should have less difficulty in remembering the name to be shouted in the grand climax. A speaker named Goldberg once made a long "the man who" oration in the Pennsylvania coal regions introducing a reform candidate for governor named Pinchot. At the grand climax he couldn't remember Pinchot's name.

Americans have lost none of their traditional bravery, as demonstrated by the number of men willing to be President, despite the fact the White House has been termed a fire trap.

What the average householder would like to have explained is why the grass he wants in his lawn refuses to grow when every other form of vegetation flourishes without care.

There Ain't That Much!

There is only one way it could ever be retired, and that is through Uncle Sam tightening his belt, whittling his own expenses down below a reasonable tax rate, and paying the debt off over a period of years out of the excess.

If it is not paid off, what then? There are two alternatives, both ending in disaster. For one thing, the debt might eventually have to be repudiated, which would wreck the economy as well as ruin the public credit of this nation. For the other, we can continue with the present course of inflation, which will lead eventually to the bankruptcy of the country and the impoverishment of its people.

The important development of the past few months is that Uncle Sam has stopped even the pretense of economizing.

MONEY IS BEING SPENT, OUT OF WASHINGTON, FASTER THAN EVER BEFORE IN HISTORY, PEACE OR WAR!

The budget itself is at a record height for peacetimes, being about $40 billions for general purposes. In addition to that, incredibly big new spending is being undertaken abroad. The Marshall Plan, for example, has been estimated as about $20 billions for four years, but already we are being warned that the first installment is inadequate; the total from the Marshall Plan alone may run to $30 billions or more. And there are any number of other foreign-aid programs under way or being discussed which are not part of the Marshall Plan.

In the matter of rearming for a possible coming war, Uncle Sam's expenditures are multiplying rapidly. It is now estimated that so-called "national defense" will total $45 billions in the next three years.

Over and above these gigantic spending projects, there is the constant demand that the Federal government be allowed to embark on so-styled "social" programs—huge sums in Federal contributions to education; stupendous health programs; vast housing projects.

Any or all of these projects may have merit. But the time must come when it is no longer a question of whether they are desirable, or whether we can "afford" them—but whether we are not kidding ourselves if we think we have the money for them at all.

There is only one way a government can "make" money—and that's simply to print it. That is inflation. If the truth were known, most of what we think of as money, either already spent or about to be, is inflation money.

That has to be true, for this nation never had more than $300 billions in real money and tangible assets which it could spend. The war cost us about two-thirds more than that entire amount. Our debts of various kinds run two or three times as much. And it now appears that the Truman Administration proposes to wind up the current year spending or committing upwards of $100 billions—a third of all we ever had to spend—in this single year!

The way a nation makes money, as distinguished from the government making it, is for all the people to roll up their sleeves and go to work, earning profits for themselves and their employers.

We haven't really tried that since the war. But even so, if the government spends faster than the people can earn, disaster of some sort is in the offing.

Stalin openly, and to a lesser degree Great Britain, are waiting patiently for this country to "go broke." Then they can scramble for the pieces.

Recent developments, viewed from a dispassionate eye, would indicate they may not have long to wait!

BENSALEM AND LANGHORNE NINES BATTLE TO TIE

LANGHORNE, Apr. 28 — Langhorne and Bensalem High battled to a 3-3 deadlock yesterday afternoon in a Lower Bucks County League tilt which was called at the end of the 8th inning because of rain.

Bensalem had the game in its grasp in the extra inning when "Ed" Tinsman retired the first two batters, Kring and Smith. But "Army" Pizzano doubled to left field and Brown's smack went down the middle for a hit to score Pizzano with the tying run.

"Ed" Tinsman went the route for the Bensalem team and allowed the Redskins to hit four scattered hits. He had 10 strikeouts and was handled beautifully by his brother receiver, John. Maurer started on the mound for Langhorne and was taken out for a pinch hitter in the fifth. Hoffman finished. Maurer did not allow a walk and gave up four hits. Hoffman walked three and was nicked for the same number of safe blows.

For the first four cantoes, Tinsman had a no run, no hit game but this was broken up when "Bill" Pizzano socked a long double. Tinsman was given errorless support with Neal Moeller playing a fine game at shortstop and "Buck" Weaver making three spectacular catches in centerfield.

Coach "Woody" Wetherhold's boys were first to score, getting a pair of tallies in the second. "Whitney" Bristow started the rally with a single and Weaver got the longest Bensalem hit, a two-bagger, Bristow pulling up at third. Cassidy made the only error of the game on Witback's grounder and both base-runners scored. John Tinsman moved Witback along with a sacrifice but Ed Tinsman was the third out.

The Langhorne team made its initial marker in the fifth on Pizzano's double and Maurer's single. Coach "Jim" Egli's lads tied the count in the sixth with the benefit of a hit. Kring was hit with a pitched ball and Smith walked. Pizzano and the other runners were all safe on a fielder's choice. Brown's fly to rightfield scored Kring.

The Owls took the lead in the upper part of the eighth when George Ashton singled and stole second. Hoffman fanned Bristow but Weaver slashed out a bingle and Ashton scored.

Langhorne tied it in its half of the frame but by this time it was raining quite hard so the game was called.

Ashton led the batters of the game with three hits out of four times up.

Bensalem meets George School Friday afternoon at George School. "Walt" Fredericks will do the hurrying for the Owls.

Glee Club and Choir To Present Concert

Paul Nuse, last year's band director, began this drive for funds for new and additional uniforms. Supported by the Mothers' Association in a card party, and assisted by donations, about $400 was raised in the last few months of last school term to get the ball rolling.

This year many of the needed uniforms have been purchased at a cost of about $1600. Arthur Hornberger, the present director, urged the band members into further effort last fall. Their efforts and a further contribution by the Mothers' Association brought in about another $400. It is hoped that this concert will reduce further the amount needed to take care of the band's needs, so that next year may see the equipment completely paid for.

PENDLETON — (INS) — A Pendleton businessman reserved three downtown parking places for loading by blocking each with a large cardboard carton. Scarcely had he gone inside with a passing motorist stopped, got out, critically examined the empty boxes, then leisurely put all three in his car and drove off.

ago in Pennsylvania, piling up nearly 150,000 votes and more than 100,000 over the combined total of six other candidates.

Stassen, then in the Navy, received 1502 votes.

Generally, however, the write-in balloting failed to evoke much interest among the Pennsylvania electorate. Only about one-fourth of the eligible registration deposited ballots in the state.

Political observers termed it the calmest and dulllest presidential primary in years. Except for a few spirited local contests, the voters showed extreme apathy towards the campaign.

Croydon Women To Aid Salvation Army

CROYDON, Apr. 28 — The Women's Society for Christian Service, of the Wilkinson Memorial Church, has enlisted its members to help by house-to-house canvass in the Salvation Army campaign.

Mrs. Isabel Rice, president, who is acting as chairman; Mrs. Vera Hedrick, vice-president; Mrs. Ella Labor, secretary; and Mrs. Julia Knowles, treasurer, are recruiting a dozen or more of the members of the society to help with the work.

The Salvation Army is well known here. The Army's band having just given a recital at the church, where many people enjoyed its music.

The proceeds of the campaign will be used by the Salvation Army in carrying on its work among the needy. Any persons who are missed by the solicitors can give their donations to any member of the society.

GENEVA — (INS) — Refugees arriving in Switzerland assert that large deposits of thorium and uranium have been discovered recently in northern Hungary. Scientists reportedly have been working in strictest secrecy under the supervision of the famous Hungarian nuclear physicist, Dr. Alexander Szalay. The refugees said that the ores assayed a high ratio of thorium and uranium, although all figures are closely guarded by the Communist-dominated Hungarian government as "military secrets."

HELPFUL HINTS FOR STORING OF WOOLENS AID THE HOUSEWIFE
By FLORA-MAY SAGUL, Home Economics Representative.
Be certain all winter clothes are clean before you store them. If your clothes are clean when you put them away, they will give you longer service in wear and appearance.
Check every garment. Your dark woollen garments may not have been worn often and may not look soiled, but they collect dust and soil.
If you suspect that the hem will have to be changed when you use the garment next season, rip it out now before you have the garment washed or cleaned. If the hem is ripped out before washing or cleaning more of the telltale hemline mark is removed.
If you know what caused a spot on a garment you take to be cleaned, tell the cleaner what it is. It is easier for him to remove a stain if he knows what caused it.
For the winter garments that are washable, make a rich suds of a neutral soap, one that is not strong with lye. Dissolve the soap thoroughly in hot water and cool the water to lukewarm temperature. Squeeze the suds through the garment gently. Do not crowd the garment in the water. Use more than one suds if necessary. Rinse the garment in water the same temperature as the suds; a change from warm to cold water or vice versa may cause the garment to shrink. Rinse the garment until the water rinses out clear. Squeeze out water and roll the garment in a dry towel. Spread it on a flat surface to dry. You may hang it on a line to dry, only if you are sure the garment is firm enough to keep its shape. Press the garment with a cool iron when it is almost dry.
Pack the garments you are putting away for the year in airtight packages or containers. Put the sweater or wool socks you may want for the summer camping trip in a separate package. Label all packages.

LANGHORNE, Apr. 28 — Langhorne and Bensalem High battled to a 3-3 deadlock yesterday afternoon in a Lower Bucks County League tilt which was called at the end of the 9th inning because of rain.

Bensalem had the game in its grasp in the extra inning when "Ed" Timman retired the first two batters, Kring and Smith. But "Army" Fizzano doubled to left field and Brown's smash went down the middle for a hit to score Fizzano with the tying run.

"Ed" Timman went the route for the Bensalem team and allowed the Redskins to get scattered hits. He had 10 strikeouts and was handled beautifully by his brother receiver, John. Maurer started on the mound for Langhorne and was taken out for a pinch hitter in the fifth. Hoffman finished. Maurer did not allow a walk and gave up four hits. Hoffman walked three and was nicked for the same number of safe blows.

For the first four cantoes, Timman had a no run, no hit game but this was broken up when "Bill" Fizzano socked a long double. Timman was given errorless support with Neal Moeller playing a fine game at shortstop and "Buck" Weaver making three spectacular catches in centerfield.

Coach "Woody" Wetherhold's boys were first to score, getting a pair of tallies in the second. "Whitney" Bristow started the rally with a single and Weaver got the longest Bensalem hit, a two-bagger, Bristow pulling up at third. Cassidy made the only error of the game on Witback's grounder and both base-runners scored. John Timman moved Witback along with a sacrifice but Ed Timman was the third out.

The Langhorne team made its initial marker in the fifth on Fizzano's double and Maurer's single. Coach "Jim" Egli's lads tied the count in the sixth with the benefit of a hit. Kring was hit with a pitched ball and Smith walked. Fizzano and the other runners were all safe on a fielder's choice. Brown's fly to rightfield scored Kring.

The Owls took the lead in the upper part of the eighth when George Ashton singled and stole second. Hoffman fanned Bristow but Weaver slashed out a single and Ashton scored.

Langhorne tied it in its half of the frame but by this time it was raining quite hard so the game was called.

Ashton led the batters of the game with three hits out of four times up.

Bensalem meets George School Friday afternoon at George School. "Walt" Fredericks will do the hurrying for the Owls.

Glee Club and Choir To Present Concert

Paul Nuse, last year's band director, began this drive for funds for new and additional uniforms. Supported by the Mothers' Association in a card party, and assisted by donations, about $400 was raised in the last few months of last school term to get the ball rolling.

This year many of the needed uniforms have been purchased at a cost of about $1600. Arthur Hornberger, the present director, urged the band members into further effort last fall. Their efforts and a further contribution by the Mothers' Association brought in about another $400. It is hoped that this concert will reduce further the amount needed to take care of the band's needs, so that next year may see the equipment completely paid for.

PENDLETON — (INS) — A Pendleton businessman reserved three downtown parking places for loading by blocking each with a large cardboard carton. Scarcely had he gone inside when a passing motorist stopped, got out, critically examined the empty boxes, then leisurely put all three in his car and drove off.

ago in Pennsylvania, piling up nearly 150,000 votes and more than 100,000 over the combined total of six other candidates.

Stassen, then in the Navy, received 1502 votes.

Generally, however, the write-in balloting failed to evoke much interest among the Pennsylvania electorate. Only about one-fourth of the eligible registration deposited ballots in the state.

Political observers termed it the calmest and dulllest presidential primary in years. Except for a few spirited local contests, the voters showed extreme apathy towards the campaign.

HUNGARIAN SECRECY

GENEVA — (INS) — Refugees arriving in Switzerland assert that large deposits of thorium and uranium have been discovered recently in northern Hungary. Scientists reportedly have been working in strictest secrecy under the supervision of the famous Hungarian nuclear physicist, Dr. Alexander Szalay. The refugees said that the ores assayed a high ratio of thorium and uranium, although all figures are closely guarded by the Communist-dominated Hungarian government as "military secrets."

By FLORA-MAY SAGUL, Home Economics Representative.

Be certain all winter clothes are clean before you store them. If your clothes are clean when you put them away, they will give you longer service in wear and appearance.

Check every garment. Your dark woollen garments may not have been worn often and may not look soiled, but they collect dust and soil.

If you suspicion that the hem will have to be changed when you use the garment next season, rip it out now before you have the garment washed or cleaned. If the hem is ripped out before washing or cleaning more of the telltale hemline mark is removed.

If you know what caused a spot on a garment you take to be cleaned, tell the cleaner what it is. It is easier for him to remove a stain if he knows what caused it.

For the winter garments that are washable, make a rich suds of a neutral soap, one that is not strong with lye. Dissolve the soap thoroughly in hot water and cool the water to lukewarm temperature. Squeeze the suds through the garment gently. Do not crowd the garment in the water. Use more than one suds if necessary. Rinse the garment in water the same temperature as the suds; a change from warm to cold water or vice versa may cause the garment to shrink. Rinse the garment until the water rinses out clear. Squeeze out water and roll the garment in a dry towel. Spread it on a flat surface to dry. You may hang it on a line to dry, only if you are sure the garment is firm enough to keep its shape. Press the garment with a cool iron when it is almost dry.

Pack the garments you are putting away for the year in airtight packages or containers. Put the sweater or wool socks you may want for the summer camping trip in a separate package. Label all packages.
